

CALL FOR APPLICATION FOR RESEARCH SCHOLARSHIP FOR DOCTORAL STUDENTS

ELTE Faculty of Informatics

Reference number: PHD_23

ELTE Faculty of Informatics has launched a call for application for doctoral students for the 2023/2024 academic year.

The aim of the call is supporting active doctoral students' research and publication activity, fostering their academic and professional progress by providing scholarship paid on a monthly basis for maximum 10 months.

Eligibility criteria:

- active doctoral student status;
- applicants undertake to carry out research activity either by joining one of the faculty's research groups or individually, led by supervisor and publish the achieved research finding(s) or submit publication to edition during the scholarship-financed period.

It may be an advantage if the applicant submitted previously application for ÚNKP but it was rejected due to lack of financial resources.

Non-eligibility criterium:

- those who receive ÚNKP, EIT, KDP, DKÖP, IDSL etc. complementary scholarship.

Stipendium Hungaricum scholarship holder students are also encouraged and eligible to apply.

Application documents:

- research plan including
 - o the research objective,
 - o work plan and breakdown of tasks per months,
 - o expected research findings and
 - o publication strategy (where and which part of the expected results will be published);
- CV
- publication list exported from MTMT
- a brief presentation of applicant's former research activity up to the date of submission.

The application submission is continuous. The scholarship period can be a maximum of 10 months, ending in July 2024 at the latest. Thus, those who apply in January can apply for the February-July period, i.e. for a maximum of 6 months.

Those who submit an application in the fall semester must prepare a progress summary in February 2024. If, on the basis of the progress report, the committee considers that the undertaken publication cannot be realized by the end of the scholarship period, the faculty will suspend the payment of the scholarship.

Submission deadline: no deadline, submission continuous. Applications received by the last day of a given month will be evaluated at the next month's committee meeting. Thus, the beginning of the scholarship period can be the next month at the earliest.

The submission is required via email to dekan@inf.elte.hu. Please specify in the e-mail subject the reference number: "PHD_23".